GW participated in the International Student Barometer (ISB) for the first time in the fall of 2011. The ISB is the largest annual study of international students, run at institutions in 16 countries across 5 continents. The survey involved 209,422 respondents in 2011 and tracks the decision-making, expectations, perceptions, and experiences of international students. All 2,196 international graduate and undergraduate students enrolled at GW were invited to participate, and 876 responded to the survey, representing a 40% response rate.

More detailed information can be found on the Summary Tables.